INSURANCE ISSUES Reimbursement Analysis.... How it can benefit your practice? How well does your practice keep track of the amount of money that they are writing off to insurance companies? Are you tracking the amounts and doing occasional spot-checking for the compliance accuracy of the insurance contracts for your practice? Read More...	Communications Nobby Lewandowski CPA ANNUAL CHECK UP FOR YOUR PRACTICE Many chief executives undergo physical examinations on an annual basis. Indeed, some companies with key-person insurance require their top brass to do so. On the other hand, many people go through life waiting until something does not feel right before submitting to a thorough examination. After a person has the checkup, he or she either gets a clean bill of health or finds what should be done to lose weight, control blood pressure, lower cholesterol, and cope with other maladies of aging and a stressful society. Read More...

"What is a reasonable salary for an Office Manager?"                  "What should we expect for a gross collection percentage?"                  "What should we pay our new orthopedic surgeon?" In our office, we utilize benchmarking on a regular basis and the statistics are updated annually. We subscribe to associations and tap into regional resources so we are prepared for these questions and also measure our own success with practices. Read More...
